RE: Five New Positive Covid-19 Cases and Twenty-Three Resolved Confirmed in James & Hudson Bay

To our community members:

We can confirm there are five new COVID-19 cases and five resolved in our region since our last update on July 2nd, 2021.

WAHA has received authorization from the leadership of Kashechewan First Nation to state that these new cases are in their respective community.

WAHA is working with Porcupine Health Unit and the local health services to ensure that the individuals are isolated, and that the contact tracing investigation is ongoing.

The new regional case count is thirty-four, twenty-seven in Kashechewan, two in Fort Albany, one in Moose Factory, three in Attawapiskat and one in Moosonee. The UK variant is known to be present in the communities.

In general, for COVID-19, a close contact is anyone who was within 2 metres or 6 feet of an infected person for at least 15 minutes during the time of infectivity. An infected person can spread COVID-19 starting 48 hours (or 2 days) before the person had any symptoms or tested positive for COVID-19. Passing a person in the hallway or in a store is generally not considered close contact and has an extremely low risk of spreading the virus. Public Health will contact you if you are considered a close contact.

At this time, we recommend that everyone continue to monitor for symptoms. If ANY symptoms develop, isolate immediately and call your local assessment centre or your health care provider to arrange testing.
